Results	Since all aspects of the event—from hosting to operation—were managed by the student executive committee, the progress was not always smooth. However, it provided a valuable opportunity for the students to learn how to design and run a program. In addition, as students usually have very limited chances to use English in their daily lives, it became a rare and enjoyable opportunity for them to communicate in English. Furthermore, they gained new knowledge about Mongolia—a country that feels both near and distant—and developed greater interest in it.
Challenges and how they were overcome	Nothing in particular
Future plans and visions	If we have the opportunity to welcome their visit again next year, we would be glad to host them. We would also like to plan online exchanges in advance of their visit.
