Close to 70 ASPnet schools joined the Green Schools Movement

INFORMATION SHARING

- Further to our call for participation, we are pleased to note that close to 70 ASPnet schools completed the Green school quality standard form, joined the green Schools Movement, and are on track to receive the badge. Green schools promote social change, global citizenship, and community action by integrating ESD and climate action into every aspect of the school (a ‘whole institution approach’) to build a sustainable culture. These quality standards were developed by UNESCO and the Greening Education Partnership (GEP). See here: A quality standard for greening schools .
- Timeline: The form will remain open until 31 December for those who are still interested in signing up.
