Call for applications and nominations – UNESCO Prize on Global Citizenship Education (2025)

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

- Nominations are now open for the very first edition of the UNESCO Prize on Global Citizenship Education. This new prize, generously funded by the Republic of Korea, celebrates outstanding work in Global Citizenship Education (GCED). It aims to recognize impactful projects, programs, or initiatives that are helping build a more just, peaceful, and sustainable world through education.
- Two winners will be selected by an international jury in 2025; each will receive a USD 50,000 award.
- Interested applicants should request a user account to gain access to the online application form. Once their account is approved, applicants should fill in and submit the online application form in English or in French. (Here's a preview of the application form.)
- Deadline: 1 September 2025 (midnight, Paris time) is the final deadline for official nominations to UNESCO HQ via UNESCO's online platform. Candidates should submit their applications early to allow National Commissions or NGOs enough time to review and select nominees. Please check with your nominating entity for their suggested submission date.

- For more information see attached Pdf document. (In English and French)
- Questions can be addressed to the Prize Secretariat at GCEDPrize@unesco.org.

Publication: The Story of Your UNESCO School

INFORMATION SHARING

- UNESCO ASPnet is pleased to share the new publication "The Story of Your UNESCO School," available for download here. It was produced by ASPnet Flanders, BeGlobal, and the VRIJPLAATS Research Lab (Artevelde University), and was initiated by Geert Leemans.
- This publication gathers 15 narratives from UNESCO schools in Flanders and Brussels, showcasing how UNESCO's values — peace, global citizenship, intercultural dialogue, and sustainable development — are put into practice in diverse school settings.
- The report is written in Dutch, with an integrative English summary chapter for international readers.
