

ASPnet bi-Weekly INFO FLASH N°32

ASPnet data is now available on UNESCO Datahub!

INFORMATION SHARING

-  The UNESCO DataHub is a platform that provides authoritative global statistics on education, culture, science, and communication. We are pleased to share that ASPnet data is now available on the UNESCO DataHub, including information by country as well as the number of educators and students across the network.
- Please visit the UNESCO DataHub to explore ASPnet data and other relevant data and learn more about the global reach of the network.

Join the Green School Movement!

RELAUNCHING THE CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

-  Following the successful call conducted in 2024 and 2025, 141 ASPnet schools from 17 countries aligned with the Green School Quality Standard and committed to this global movement aiming to green at least half of the world's schools by 2030.
- If you missed the last call, not to worry; we're relaunching the call in 2026 and the new automated data management system for the UNESCO Green School Quality Standard is now fully operational! ASPnet schools can submit their applications directly through the UNESCO Green School Quality Standard Application Form.
- By becoming a Green School, teachers, school leaders and professionals in education can
 - Gain access to a global platform of exchange offered by the Greening Education Partnership (GEP) membership.
 - Participate in working group meetings offering various capacity building opportunities.
- To support schools in this process, here are some existing recourses on ESD, which could be shared with schools.
 - ESD for 2030 Global Network | UNESCO: A global network to accelerate progress. Interact with other members of ESD-Net through our LinkedIn page
 - Getting climate-ready: a guide for schools on climate action Very practical.
 - Education for sustainable development for 2030 toolbox | UNESCO
 - ESD for 2030 Learning Webinars. Providing concrete and practical ESD activities in line with the five priority action areas outlined in the ESD for 2030 Roadmap
